Traditional Endpoint Management is Obsolete

The DLM Trap

Device Lifecycle Management is Broken. Refreshing strictly by age creates massive waste. Extending devices without insight creates crippling latency.

The Monday Morning Chaos

VDI lockouts, failing SaaS applications, and network drops trigger a flood of disconnected alerts. IT is drowning in noise while employees sit idle.

The Deprecation Threat

As native tools shift (like VBScript deprecation), legacy telemetry leaves IT blind, turning routine management into a guessing game.

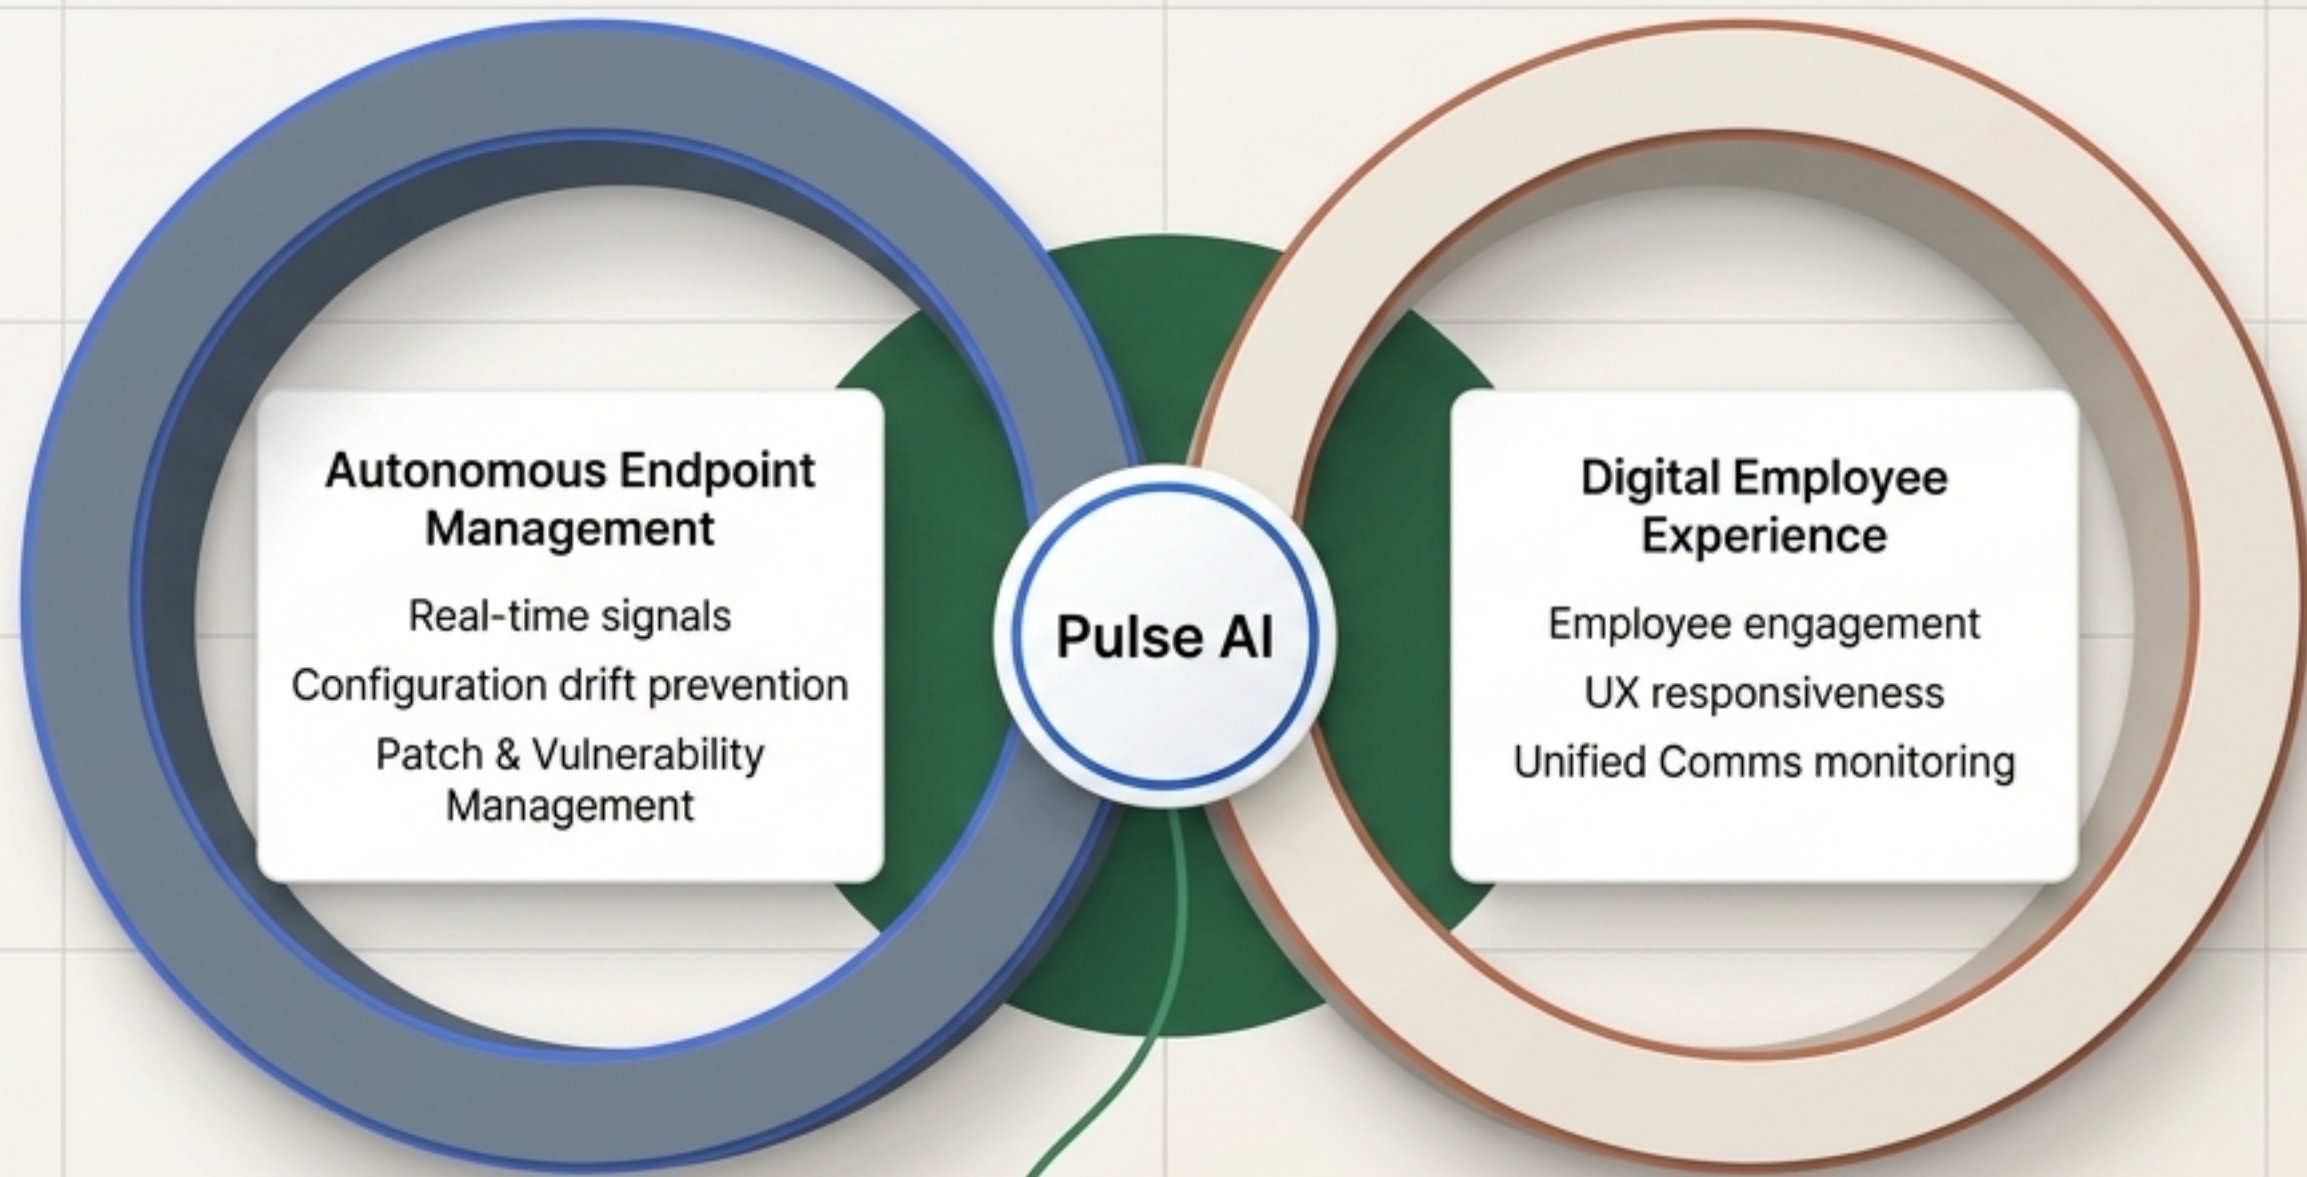

Key Takeaway: You are tethered to tickets, and employees are slowed down by technology.
